CORRESPONDENCE.

Mr. Editor—

In the Bulletin appears the synopsis of a law to regulate drummers' licenses in this country.

It seems to me that tinkering with laws is a dangerous matter for amateur hands to indulge in, and care should be taken in forcing the Supreme Court to give a deliberate snub when the same could be avoided.

Now let us see where the sense comes in with regard to this drummers' law. Is this a Republic of Oahu or a Republic of Hawaii? The constitution of Hawaii declares all men equal before the law! The law is made for all the islands sitting in legislative council in Oahu, it passes laws which applies to the whole islands and all must be equal. I pay license to trade to the Government of the Hawaiian Islands and I claim the right by that license to trade where I please in the Hawaiian Islands, and I am certain that the Supreme Court will uphold me in this position. If the different islands were different States of the same confederation then the case would be of another character entirely.

It seems to me absurd to think that any sane individual should bring in a law of such a questionable nature. For the sake of argument let us see where such a law would end. I have an established business here, pay taxes, license and customs duties to the Government. I am the Hawaiian agent (not Oahu agent) for the Domestic sewing machine. I decide to take a trip to Lahaina, and my old friend, Captain Taylor, says to me, "Send me up a No. 4 Domestic sewing machine," and I have to reply, "you write that in a letter to me at my store and I will attend to it." The position taken by these law makers is absurd because their law would be practically inoperative and why should the statute books be cumbered with such laws?

Take the Honolulu Iron Works for instance. They supply sugar machinery to the different plantations. They are requested by a plantation on Maui to send up a man to examine into the state of their mill and machinery with a view to necessary improvements. In order to avoid a five hundred dollar license the man tells the plantation manager, "I can't go into figures and cost of improvements here, but will write to you from Honolulu." Thus the proposed law is broken or set aside. Such laws are not good laws.

I take it for granted that it is sound judgment never to place, either by law or otherwise, any embargo on the free circulation of trade within the jurisdiction of a whole State or country. The moment this is done an injustice is bound to be worked somewhere. Under the old license law a retail license was fifty dollars and a wholesale one was one hundred dollars, while under the new law a more equitable license prevails from the fact that all merchants whether wholesale or retail, pay on the amount of business done, and they subscribe to their statements under oath.

To now tax the drummer from any house is double taxation, which is contrary to the intent of the constitution.

England, the greatest commercial country in the world, has no taxation of any description on its business, but rather offers every inducement by low rates of interest by which the volume of its business may be increased.

Let the law against foreign invasion of our internal trade by persons who contribute nothing to the good of the body politic be put fully into force, and let all our merchants consistently assist to that end, and no further legislation is needed.

While talking of laws it would be well for some of our legislators to read up a little English law. The McCandless bill for instance is a good specimen as to England's way of reaching the desired end without turning the Supreme Court into a wheelwright shop.

England taxes narrow tyres and offers a premium to what are termed road makers by ceasing taxation at 5-inch tyres. W. F. REYNOLDS.

Commutations and Pardon

Attorney-General Smith went with several other gentlemen at 2 p. m. yesterday to the prison and made the following announcements: The conditionally pardoned men were let loose the same afternoon:

The sentence of W. H. C. Greig is commuted from twenty to fifteen years; T. B. Walker, thirty to fifteen years; Carl Widemann, thirty to fifteen years; Louis Marshall, twenty to fifteen years; W. H. Seward, thirty to twenty years; W. H. Rickard, thirty to twenty years; R. W. Wilcox, thirty to twenty years; C. T. Gulick, thirty to twenty years. The fine of $10,000 in each of the above cases was not commuted.

The following conditional pardons to political prisoners were read:

John Ai, J. R. Sylva, Pihena, John Pio, Pohaka, Alex. Pahau, Tom Pedro, Punalua, Makakoa, David Keaunui, Kakaio, Kahanaui, Kaholo, J. K. Kamali, John Kaolowi, J. W. Kahaio, Kaanaana, Hoopii, Kaillio, Kalaunulu, Koia Kapena, Kaanaana, Manuel Kubio, Kilohana, Sam Kallau, Liwai Kamekane, Peter Hookano, Waianae.

Pardons were also read of the following political prisoners now on Hawaii:

James H. Bush, Samuel Hookano, J. Hanapanu, Haku, Inoaole, William Joseph, Kelikuewa, Keohe, Kabiki-kolu, Sam Kanae, Kahoomanawanui, J. J. Mathews, Kini J. Mahoe, Nakaikuahine, John Piko, Wailama.

Unconditional pardons were granted Kaniku Pahia, sentenced to three months imprisonment and $318.50 fine for assault with deadly weapon; Kaulana, sentenced to nine years and $16.80 fine for manslaughter; Kanakaokai, one year and $200 fine for larceny, and Keoki eight years for larceny.

Sans Souci.

The most lovely spot on Oahu is Sans Souci. This favorite seaside resort, which has been immortalized by the pen of Robert L. Stevenson, who resided there for months, is only four miles from Honolulu and within easy reach of the tramcars. The surroundings and bathing at this famous resort are superior to anything found in the Hawaiian Islands. Cottages and board can be obtained on easy terms. The table set by the manager is better than any offered here at other hotels. For picnics, bathing parties and outings the best accommodation can be secured by giving notice to the manager.
